Third person, here we go... in 2020 Hannah jumped from the camera department to directing with a shadowing opportunity under Director Jeffrey Walker on NBC's Young Rock, working alongside producers and showrunners Nahnatchka Khan, Jeff Chiang, and Jen Carreras. Hannah has since collaborated with Jeffrey Walker as a Storyboard Artist and 2nd Unit Director on Disney's The Clearing (2022), The Artful Dodger (2022), and Netflix's Apple Cider Vinegar (2023). While working on The Clearing, Hannah developed a creative connection with Jude Troy from Wooden Horse Productions and completed a Director's Attachment under Neil Sharma on their production Mother and Son (2023).

Simultaneously, Hannah directed an indie feature film, MY TAI, written by Jake Ashton. Backed by industry peers and professionals, the film was made on a minimal budget and a lot (a LOT) of goodwill. The film is set to premiere in the 2025 GOLD COAST FILM FESTIVAL. Hannah and Jake plan to create a series of Aussie Comedy feature films based on the same comedic style as MY TAI.

Hannah is now busy developing her own slate of genre-diverse projects that celebrate Australian community, feature strong environmental themes and promote compelling female-led narratives and characters.
